

English Proficiency Test Scores for International Applicants

Colorado State University requires that international applicants from countries where the official language of their country is not solely English and who have not recently earned a degree at a university in the United States provide English Proficiency Test Scores. For more information on CSU's requirements and a list of countries whose citizens are exempt from this requirement, please see <https://graduateschool.colostate.edu/english-proficiency/>

Additionally, for those who are required to submit English Proficiency Test Scores, the Philosophy Department has a higher required minimum than the Graduate School. To be considered for admissions, applicants must meet one of the following English Proficiency Test Scores:

- TOEFL iBT score of 100, with a minimum of 25 in each subsection.
- IELTS score of 7, with a minimum speaking and listening score of 7.5 each and minimum reading and writing score of 7 each.
- PTE score of 72, with a minimum of 76 each for speaking and listening and 68 each for reading, and writing.
- The Duolingo English test cannot be used to satisfy Philosophy Department English proficiency requirements.
